CHRISTIANITY AND ISLAM Of late years it has become fashionable to write freely and not always with due regard to accuracy, concerning the apparent success of Mohammedanism in Nigeria, and the alleged failure of Christianity. It is asserted that the ethics of the former are eminently suited to the Nigerian. Everything, it is stated, is in favour of Islam. It does not insist upon exacting demands with regard to sex-relationships, contrary to the promptings of nature. In other words, it stands for the flesh which lusteth against the Spirit. It is the expression of the doctrine to do-as-you-please, to follow the promptings of nature, as against the crucifixion of the flesh with the affections and lusts ; in short, it is the very antithesis of the teaching of Jesus Christ. Conversion to Islam does not mean for the converted a break with his interests (there is neither demand for repentance nor need of forgiveness), his family, his social life, his respect for the authority of his rulers. He is not left stranded as the Christian Church, having once converted, leaves him, a pitiful, rudderless barque upon a troubled sea. He does not become, through conversion, an alien in thought, in custom, and in outlook; a foreigner in his own land, a citizen of none. 1 Contrast the above with the words of H. E. Sir Frederick Lugard, who has spent the best part of his life in Africa, as against the former writer s three months tour. Whilst admitting...
