In a small pit just to the north of this outlier there is a little of the bottom-bed above the Chalk. There also seems to be a little sand on Brightwaltham Common, but it is much hidden by gravel. A mile and a half to the north-east of Sheffbrd is another outlier. In a field at its western end there is a small section showing an irregular junction of the bottom-bed, here very thin, with the Chalk. In the wood there is a small sand-pit; and there have been others. There is also a little brick-earth here. Half a mile south of Southend, near Chaddleworth, there is a small patch of yellow sand. South of Leckhampstead Street is another, partly on the slope of...
